Meet Your Presenter

Jeanette Lopez-Urbina, LCSW

Bilingual (Spanish/English) LCSW with 26 years of experience. Faculty for 8 years at the Wright Institute MFT Program and graduate-level instructor at UC Berkeley's School of Social Welfare. Has trained clinicians throughout California including at Fred Finch Youth Center, A Better Way, Seneca, and Napa County Child Welfare.

Her clinical work is grounded in a psychodynamic lens, informed by awareness of immigration trauma, intergenerational and historical trauma, and trauma-informed care, and practiced through a liberation- and justice-informed approach with Latine and other historically oppressed communities.

Who Should Attend

Licensed and pre-licensed mental health professionals (LMFTs, LCSWs, LPCCs, LEPs, and registered associates) working with Latine and other historically oppressed communities. Instructional Level: Intermediate to Advanced.

About This Training

This 8-week clinical consultation group combines shared learning community, didactic teaching, and case consultation. Each session moves through a foundational pillar of a liberation-informed clinical framework grounded in both evidence-based and practice-based contributions with the intention of supporting a shift in how clinicians receive and hold Latine and other historically oppressed populations with greater cultural attunement, depth, and justice.

Full course description and session schedule available at www.rootsinhealing.org or admin.rootsinhealing@gmail.com.

Learning Objectives

Participants attending the full 16.0 course will meet 8 distinct learning objectives (1 per session). Selected course objectives include:

1. Identify and demonstrate at least 2 clinical applications of the Use-of-Self as a foundational tool, integrating self-examination and personal clinical reflection into case consultation and peer feedback.
2. Apply at least 2 clinical assessment skills, including identifying and synthesizing clinical findings, by analyzing their own client material and offering structured feedback on the clinical material of fellow participants.
3. Integrate the 5 Pillars of the liberation-informed clinical framework into clinical reflections and case consultations across the 8-session course, including the application of theory.

Complete session-by-session learning objectives available at www.rootsinhealing.org.
